TONE OF VOICE

Our Tone of Voice is our personality. How we speak to our customers – employers and candidates alike – will sway their opinion of us, and the job we do.

Done right, it set us apart from our competition, makes us relatable, and helps build and strengthen connections.

It's not something that's set in stone – our tone may alter depending on who we're talking to, and what we're talking about. But it's rooted in who are as a company, and so, whatever the channel – advertising, social media, email or phone calls – it should be recognisably 'us'.

Who Are We?

We're reliable and respectful.

We're nimble, quick to deal with queries, and to solve problems.

We're team players, pulling together for the greater good.

And we're creative – original thinkers who aren't afraid to walk a different path.

Above all, we're professional who are passionate about delivering quality solutions, dedicated to delighting our customers and candidates in everything we do.

How We Speak

The key to creating and retaining an engaging brand personality is to be human. We are a people-powered company, and it's important that we don't lose sight of this fact.

So we treat our clients with friendly respect. We're professional, but not overly-familiar. We're genuine, and natural in the way we communicate – never forced, stiff or robotic.

We go out of our way to avoid jargon, not to appear superior, or to talk down to our clients and associates. We share our knowledge and experience, in plain language, and are always happy to help.

We explain complex things in simple ways, and use short, easy sentences.

Practical Guidelines

Remember you're human – and that you're speaking with a human. Use personal pronouns and the first and second-person voices (I, we, you). Ask questions, tell stories, listen and relate. Talk to them on an equal level, and be courteous and professional at all times.

Try to keep sentences short and uncomplicated. Avoid flowery language, buzzwords or unfamiliar acronyms.

Let our enthusiasm, energy and expertise shine through: use action words, an active voice, and be positive about what we know and what we do. Even when we're apologising for getting something wrong, we should be saying what we're doing to put it right.

tone of voice

Tips and Examples

BE PERSONAL

Make communication personal by using pronouns such as ‘you’, ‘we’, and ‘us’.

LANGUAGE

Keep it informal, colloquial and conversational:

“If you have a complaint, we’ll do everything we can to sort it out as soon as we can.”

Not

“We have a clearly defined complaint handling procedure and will endeavour to rectify any issues with the utmost care.”

Don’t be afraid to show enthusiasm and energy, but avoid overdoing it – generally speaking, exclamation marks should be avoided!

LOCALISATION

We prefer UK spellings, so use ‘colour’ not ‘color’, ‘metre’ not ‘meter’ (unless it’s a thing that counts or measures), programme not program, and so on.

DATE AND TIME

Follow the pattern DAY DATE MONTH YEAR. For example ‘Monday 25 January 2021’, or ‘25 January 2021’. For short form usage, use DAY DD/MM/YY, eg: ‘Mon 25/01/21’.

Time should be written in standard 12-hour clock format: 4PM, 4:45PM, 8AM.

CURRENCY

Use the three digit currency code followed by the monetary amount, eg.: AED 100, USD 100, GBP 100 OR a widely recognised currency symbol, if available ($100, £100).

NUMBERS

Use standard editorial numbering – spell out the numbers one to twelve, and use numerals for larger numbers, except at the beginning of sentences.

Eg: ‘Five gold rings’, ‘More than 50 vacancies’, ‘Fifty vacancies with 17 companies’.

TONE OF VOICE

Terminology

The following terminology should be used both in written communications as well as verbal communications.

Our company name can either be in full (TASC Outsourcing) or shortened to TASC

When describing TASC in one phrase, we are the staffing & HR solutions specialists

Alternative descriptions for when more than one is needed, are:

The leading recruitment, staffing and HR service provider

The leading recruitment and HR solutions specialists

We refer to our customers as Clients

Our candidates are referred to as our Associates

TAGLINE

“People For Tomorrow” speaks to our dedication to forward thinking, to innovation, and to working together, with people at our heart, to build better futures for our employees, associates and customers.

LOGO

The TASC logo is the primary identifier to represent the brand.

Within this bold and confident wordmark, the graphic treatment of the 'A' character forms an upwards-pointing arrow device that is suggestive of motion, progress and future growth.

Logos are available in a variety of formats, and should NEVER be redrawn, scanned or altered in any way.

LOGO VARIATIONS

The TASC logo can be used in three ways, as shown on this page.

Logos are available in a variety of formats, and should NEVER be redrawn, scanned or altered in any way.

CLEAR SPACE

Clear space around the TASC logo is critical to ensure legibility. The minimum clear space area is determined by the height of the letter A within the identity. This rule should be applied whenever the TASC logo is used.

MINIMUM SIZE

Minimum size standards have been developed to ensure the legible reproduction of the brand. The logo is very bold and simple, therefore can be reduced without too many concerns, however it should not be reproduced smaller than 100px width, 60px is permitted where media demands.

Logos are available in a variety of formats, and should NEVER be redrawn, scanned or altered in any way.

LOGO USAGE

The TASC logo should remain as it has been designed and should not be altered in any way. Some basic principals should be applied:

- A. Do not use any other colour for the logo or any other colours outlined in this guide
- B. Do not add effects to the TASC logo, such as drop shadows
- C. Do not stretch or distort the TASC logo
- D. Do not rotate the TASC logo

ILLUSTRATIONS

Illustrations are available in a variety of formats, and should NEVER be redrawn, scanned or altered in any way.

SECONDARY GRAPHIC

The secondary graphic is representative of our 6 personality traits; working together and always connecting, each trait aligns with a central point to form the heart of TASC.

The pattern can be used in variety of ways. Although the pattern is dynamic, and has the ability to change (shown on following page) it is important that the colours and the angles of the icons remain in this configuration.

PLEASE NOTE:

The base grid lines are for illustration purposed only, and do not form part of the TASC pattern.

SECONDARY GRAPHIC

Four examples are shown here, to demonstrate how the dynamic pattern can be adapted.

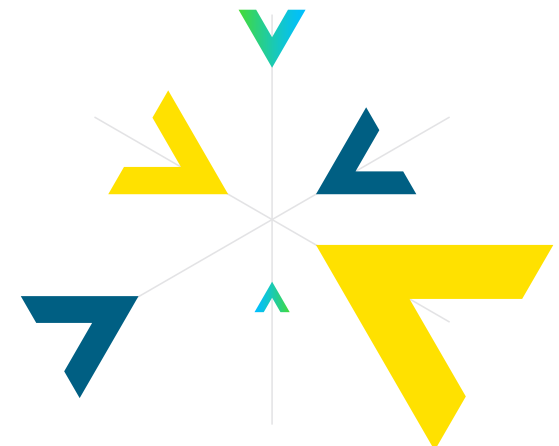

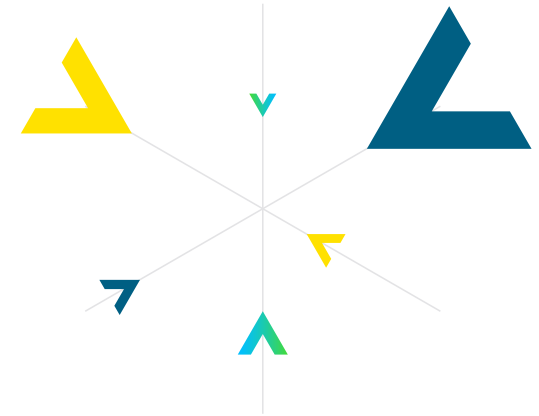

The pattern is based upon six TASC icons rotated at 60 degrees around a central point.

Ensuring the graphics are always following the grid-lines and coming together to a central point, there is flexibility to the exact placement.

Please see applications section on page 30 for examples of how this pattern is used on applications.

PLEASE NOTE:

The base grid lines are for illustration purposes only, and do not form part of the TASC pattern.

SECONDARY GRAPHIC EXAMPLE USAGE

ABSTRACT SECONDARY GRAPHIC EXAMPLES

LOGO + GRAPHIC

If the logo appears on the same design as the dynamic pattern, then the lower icon can be replaced with the letter A within the logo, as shown on this page.

Please see page 30 for examples of how this combination works on specific applications.

PLEASE NOTE:

The base grid lines are for illustration purposed only, and do not form part of the TASC pattern.

GRAPHIC + TAGLINE

If the tagline appears within the dynamic pattern, then the tagline must always be centred on the axis, as shown on this page.

Please see page 30 for examples of how this combination works on applications.

PLEASE NOTE:

The base grid lines are for illustration purposed only, and do not form part of the TASC pattern.

GRAPHIC + ILLUSTRATIONS

Illustrations can be used as the centre point to the dynamic pattern.

Please see page 30 for examples of how this combination works on specific applications.

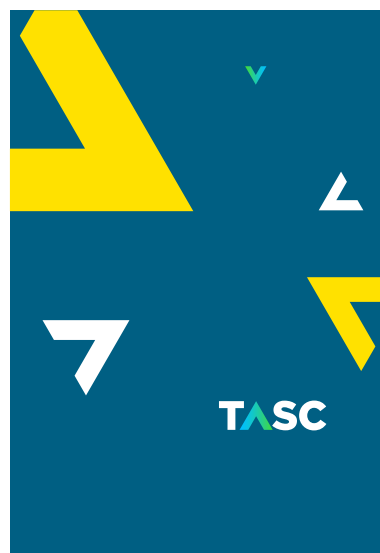

PLEASE NOTE:

The base grid lines are for illustration purposed only, and do not form part of the TASC pattern.
